

NCCARF

National
Climate Change Adaptation
Research Facility

Adaptation Research Network

WATER RESOURCES AND FRESHWATER BIODIVERSITY

Introduction

Stuart Bunn (Convenor)
(s.bunn@griffith.edu.au)

Brendan Edgar (Coordinator)
(b.edgar@homemail.com.au)

Murray's figures show water restrictions just don't add up

DR LIN
CRASE

Border Mail; 22/07/2009

Melbourne's water solutions must go beyond the pail

The Government needs more than simple silver-bullet responses to the big dry, writes Melissa Fyfe. Sunday Age; 19/07/2009

Residents use the least water, yet pay more for lack of it

ANDREW BOCK

Age; 20/07/2009

Farmers and industry seem to be untouchable when it comes to water.

Lainie Anderson Time to stand and deliver on water day Mail Adelaide; 19/07/2009

Tiny Murray fish 'at risk'

Thriving in captivity, but only in small numbers
Sunraysia Daily; 15/07/2009

Hope springs as rain spills into lower lakes

Australian; 16/07/2009

Thickening technologies and our urban water shortage

By Ian Dunn*

Australian Journal Of Mining; 01/08/2009

WELLINGTON WEIR | Extra water will return quality of life

It's not all gloom

Adelaide Advertiser;
21/07/2009

Storm rises over lack of water initiative

Adelaide Advertiser;
16/07/2009

Little joy in allocations

By Graeme O'Neill

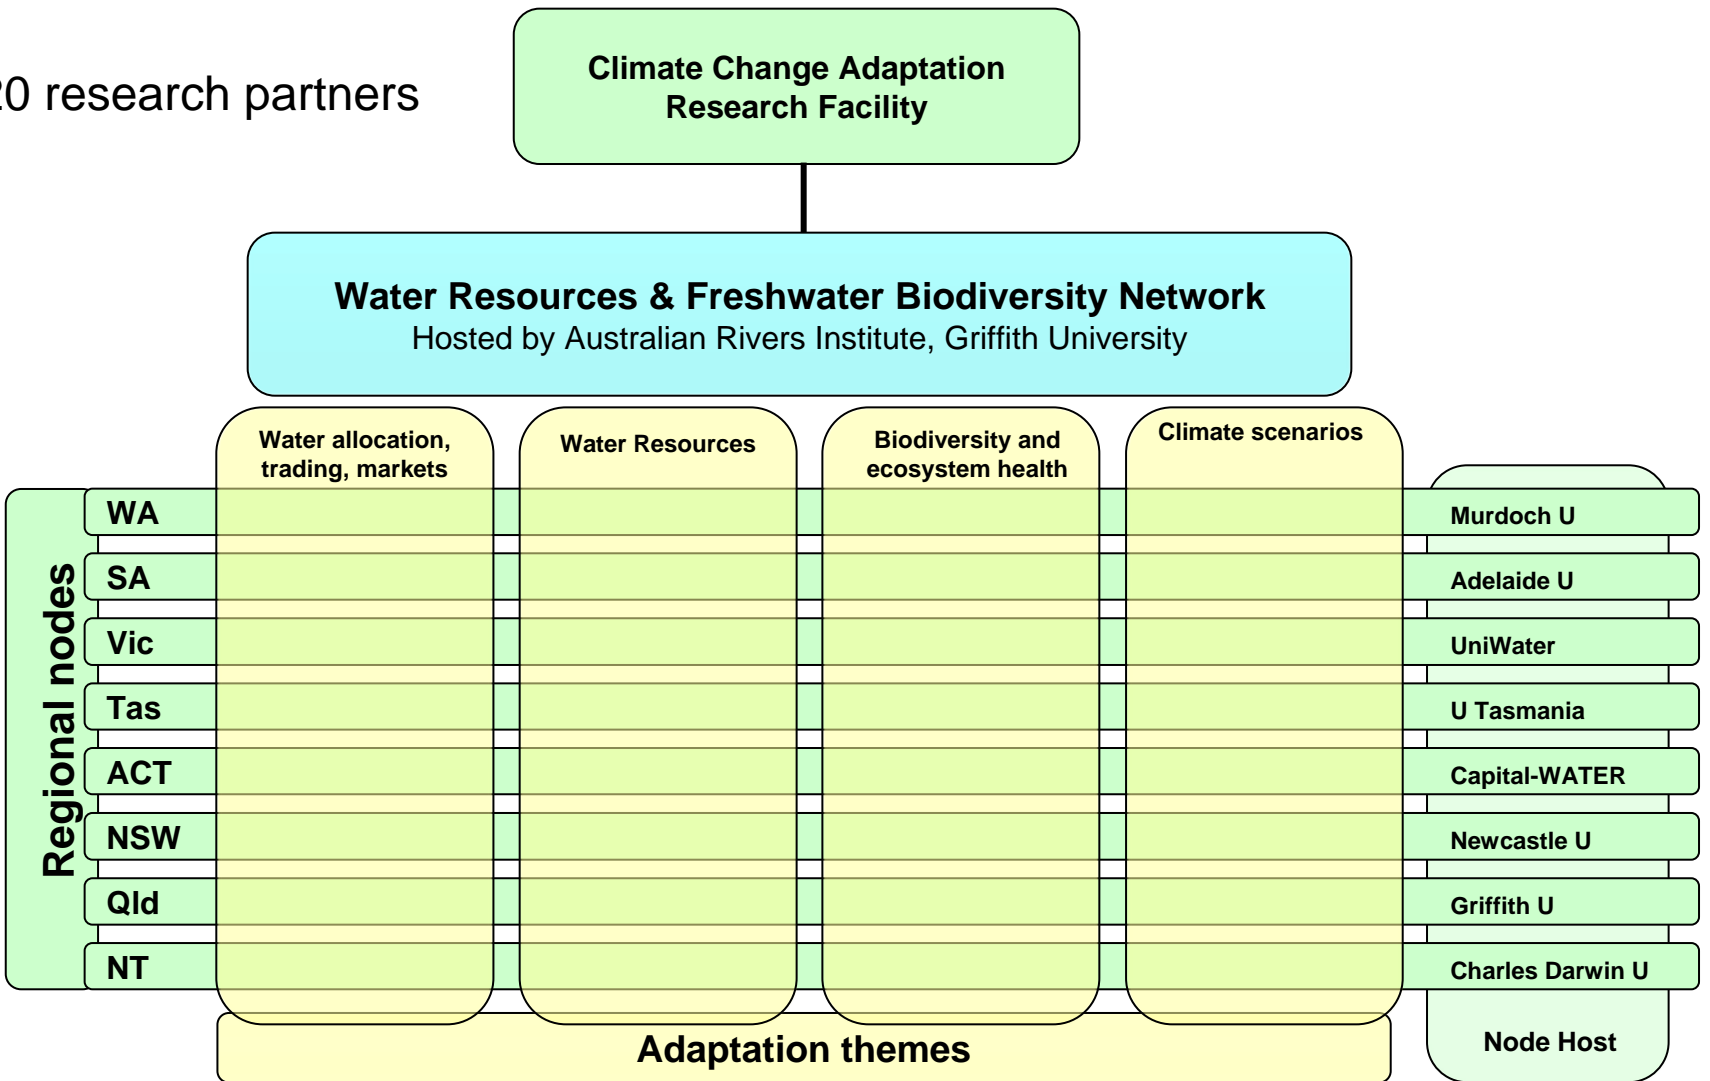

Sunraysia Daily; 16/07/2009

WA gets tough over groundwater system

Countryman; 16/07/2009

Network structure - nodes & themes

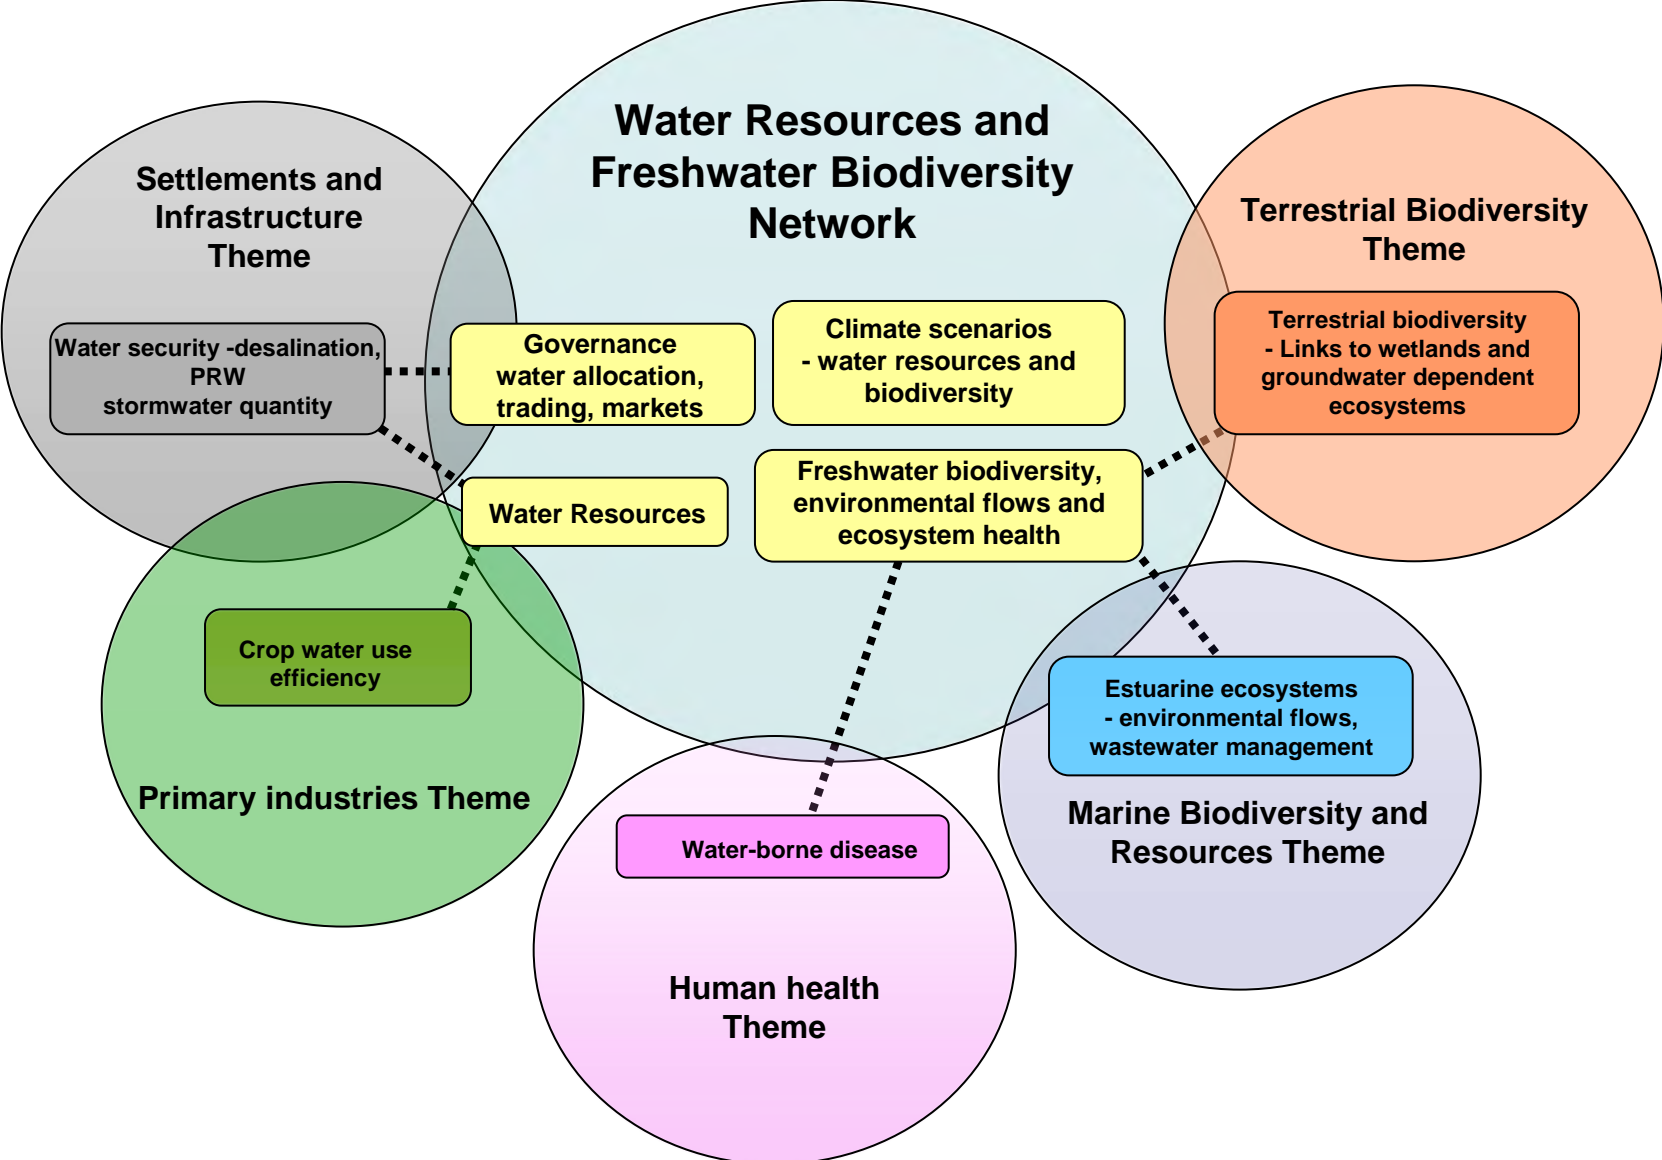

>20 research partners

Coordinated around five key 'adaptation' themes:

- Climate scenarios
- Governance
- Water Resources
- Freshwater Biodiversity
- Capacity Building

Potential links with other networks

Speakers today

- Bryson Bates (CSIRO)
- Jenny Davis (Monash University)
- John Tibby (University of Adelaide)
- Ian Prosser (CSIRO)
- John Langford (University of Melbourne)